Apply what you have learned

- Next week you should:
  - Think about your role in your organization, and/or identify colleagues and leaders within your organization or network who could benefit from lessons in empowerment and career growth
- In the first three months following this presentation you should:
  - Identify if there are existing barriers or biases for yourself and colleagues
  - Share panel lessons with peers and leadership within your organization – both male and female
- Within six months you should:
  - Discuss best practices on how to remove workplace inequalities and encourage minority empowerment
